

How long does it take?

Question

How long does it take your company to complete a project from start to finish?

Answers

That depends on many things, such as complexity and size of the project, and the factory production schedule. Perhaps chief among the reasons for more production time is the amount of custom design work, which must be approved by you. These approvals and the approval of all bids and submittal documents are the single most common reason for delayed production. Be sure you get your approvals signed and returned to us promptly.
