STONE LEGENDS

Entry Legend

As Rome expanded, embracing the experiences of the Hellenistic world, porticos became a part of the urban landscape.

The technique of building with cast stone was perfected during this period.

Our entries will welcome you and your guests into your home. Their classical designs make them appropriate for any environment. Entries can be as simple or as elaborate as desired and can include columns, pilasters, face stone, profiled surrounds, entablatures, and balustrade.

The choice is yours, to express your taste in your home. This section of the catalog is designed to spark your imagination. You can use any of the existing entries shown on the following pages, combine elements from different entries or have us design something unique to suit you and your project.

Many of the flat entries are great as an interior door units too, single- or double-faced!

Think of this – when someone rings your doorbell, you will want them to be impressed by exceptional quality stone they can see and touch. Add one of our Entry Units to your project now!

Entry Unit Styles

Stone Legends currently offers a wide variety of Entries, in many styles from classical shapes to a more ornate, baroque appearance. A few have optional sizes available and some can be modified in height and/or width to fit your project.

Shown on this chapter are only a few of those currently available, many with actual photos of installed units. The drawings are not to a specific scale.

For ease of use, we have categorized our entries into four styles:

Flat Entry

Entries attached directly to your structure, with minimal projection. They may or may not include door jambs or soffit returns.

Flat Entry

Recess or Alcove Entry

Entries that stand out from the face of the building, some by as much as 3 feet or more, but are not classified as porticos.

Alcove Entry

Porch / Portico Entry

Entries that stand out from the face of the building, supporting roofs or balconies.

Porch Entry

Full Facade Entry

Entries using stone facing for all or most of the front wall surface area. Since these are highly technical, we recommend contacting us as early in the building design process as possible.

Spiral stairs were designed originally for defense after the fall of Rome left much of Europe open to warfare. By the 11th century, narrow spiral staircases made of stone were an important part of the defense of any castle or keep.

Designers realized that most swordsmen, being right-handed, had a tremendous advantage. A single warrior backing up a clockwise stairway, swinging a heavy sword with gravity, could hold off a more numerous enemy almost indefinitely. Attackers were forced to fight up the stair with an awkward backhand, hampered by the narrowness of the spiral. As the years passed, the need for military defense declined. The narrow, defensible, tight spiral gave way to the elegant grand stairway that announced the ascent into Society.

Profile options, like the chamfer recess above, give added visual depth and unlimited design possibilities. Tracery, ropes, and flora are just a few custom options to add dramatic differences to your quoins. Upcharges apply to custom units.

Also known as corner stones, quoins add sophistication to any design. Our quoins are available either flat or chamfered, in one-piece or two-piece 90° corner designs. In addition, quoins may be on one face only or wrap the corner for both. The depth of your quoin will be determined by your building material—for instance brick and stone require deeper quoins than does stucco. The height and width will be determined by your style, typically by your architect. We have many standard sizes available, but customizing is always an option.

- X = Maximum height of the quoin face (elevation).
- Y = Maximum length of the quoin 90° to the visual face (elevation).
- Z = Maximum depth of the quoin 90° perpendicular to the visual face (plan view).
- YY = Side leg length perpendicular to the face length.

Pricing Legend

Quoin costs are calculated based on an Each Unit Basis.

Refer to the Stone Legends Pricing Legend, located as an insert at the back of the catalog, for more information on calculating stone costs for catalog units.

Dating back to ancient Rome, quoins were generally applied to the ashlar masonry employed to stop the rubble masonry or brickwork of walls at the angles.

Sometimes, to give greater importance to the angles of towers, the quoins were rusticated.

Wall Veneer Legend

The use of stone as a veneer covering a more pragmatic structural framing or bearing wall has been explored at least as far back as classical rome.

Later in history, stone veneer was used extensively in the construction of castles and towers.

Wall Veneer Dimension Guide

Veneer is an excellent compliment or alternative to the basic brick or stucco facade. With various options of sizes and profile shapes, you are left with unlimited options to choose from. Whether you use cast stone veneer for partial coverage applications or full facade applications, cast stone is sure to make a dramatic first impression. Cast stone veneer allows you unlimited design options at a competitive cost.

- Sizes
- X = Maximum height (elevation).
  - Y = Maximum length (elevation).
  - Z = Maximum depth (plan view).

Pricing Legend

Veneer Panel costs are calculated based on an Each Unit Basis.

Refer to the Stone Legends Pricing Legend, located as an insert at the back of the catalog, for more information on calculating stone costs for catalog units.
