Organization Guide

■ ■ ■ ■	Type Description
■ ■ ■	Primary View
■ ■	Surname / Profile
■	Dimension

Listed below are available catalog options as shown in this chapter. Refer to page 6 for a complete list of available TypeDescriptions, PrimaryViews and Modifiers.

Product Groups	Type Descriptions	Primary Views	Modifiers
Caps for Landscape Walls	Caps for Landscape Walls Ornaments	FlatTop SlightSlope SpecialShape Steeple Half	Banded EasingOver EasingUp FinishedEnd FlatTop SlightTop

- X the height of the visual face.
- XX the height of the non-sloped portion of the visual face.
- Z the depth of the unit 90 Degrees perpendicular to the visual face.
- ZZ Control Dimension - the depth (or setting bed) for a wall or pier cap that match the wall or pier size.
- Y the length of the unit along the visual face.
- P the flat surface on the top of a FlatTop Wall or Pier Cap to accommodate other stone.

Combining Units

Units can work together to create a dramatically different effect. It is important to determine the control dimensions in order to verify that the Units will work together. For instance, the ZZ dimension of a Finial must work with the P dimension of a Pier Cap.

All three product groups within this chapter use the ZZ as the control dimension.

Pricing Legend

Wall cap costs are calculated based on an Linear Foot (Lf) Basis.

Refer to the Stone Legends Pricing Legend, located as an insert at the back of the catalog, for more information on calculating stone costs for catalog units.

Caps for Landscape Walls Legend

Stacked Banded Wall Cap (Paver or mortar filled top)

Closure Alternatives

You can choose from four types of top closures with the banded pier/wall caps. The illustrations range from the simplest (mortar filled) to the most complex using a finial.

Mortar filled is great for a taller wall, where the top is never visible. A flat stone or one with a slight slope works well for the flat closure. A solid cap makes everything look finished. Finials bring an added touch to banded pier caps.

A banded wall or pier cap is made up of profiled stones that are sold by the linear foot, including cast-in corners. They may be a single profile or stacked. Almost any profiles can be used, but they must stack properly atop one another. See Chapter 11 - Profiles: The DNA of Stone for more information on stacking profiles.

Wall Cap/Pier Cap Symbols

Indicates a matching profile in both Caps for Landscape Walls and Caps for Landscape Piers.

Indicates a pier cap or wall cap profile that can be substituted on Newel Piers, Balustrade Hand Rails or Base Rails; refer to Patio and Pool Chapter.

A Tresse is a decorative panel often with interlocking ornamentation used to adorn buildings or walls.

The Palm Grove Tresse (Unit ID 16493) is a great example of the uses of a tresse.

STONE LEGENDS

Half Cap from Single-sided Profile

The ZZ of the profile should be equal to or slightly wider than the wall.

Full Cap from Single-sided Profile

Take the ZZ of the profile x 2 + one $\frac{3}{8}$ " mortar joint. This should be equal to or slightly wider than actual wall.

Many of our single-sided profiles can be used to top a wall that would have only one open face, such as a planter wall or a parapet wall. Or, they can be set back to back for a free-standing wall. A few of these are listed here for your convenience, but almost any profile will work.

It's more than 2,000 years old, but the Great Wall of China remains one of the great wonders of the world, an engineering feat rarely matched in the 22 centuries since its construction began. Stretching 4,500 miles, from the mountains of Korea to the Gobi Desert, it was first built to protect an ancient Chinese empire from marauding tribes from the north. But it evolved into something far greater a boon to trade and prosperity and ultimately a symbol of Chinese ingenuity and will.

STONE LEGENDS

A photograph of a stone pier, likely part of a fence or wall. The pier is constructed from various shades of natural stone, including tan, grey, and reddish-brown. It features a decorative, multi-tiered stone cap that tapers to a point. In the center of the pier, there is a light-colored, arched plaque with a dark, stylized, swirling design. The background shows lush green trees and a clear sky.

STONE LEGENDS

Cast stone pier caps, like the Bullnose Flat (Unit ID 949), are the perfect compliment to natural stone installations.

Light fixtures (by others) can also add an extra feature to your landscape project.

Pricing Legend

Finial costs are calculated based on an Each Unit Basis.

Refer to the Stone Legends Pricing Legend, located as an insert at the back of the catalog, for more information on calculating stone costs for catalog units.

- X Width of a Unit.
- Z the depth of the unit 90 Degrees perpendicular to the visual face.
- ZZ Control Dimension - the depth (or setting bed) for a finial. Determines the size of pier cap the finial can sit on.
- Y Height of a unit, a control dimension.
- D Diameter

Throughout history, walls have been used for protection, privacy and as statements of beauty.

Today, Landscape Walls and Piers can accentuate and beautify any project.
